

NAEOP

Virtual Book Club

The PITA Principle

By Robert Orndorff, D.Ed., and Dulin Clark, Ph.D.

A humorous new how-to guide by character expert Robert Orndorff and psychologist Dulin Clark unveils the different types of PITAs (Pain In The ...) one might encounter on the job. Readers will learn how to cope with, and dare we say benefit from, these PITAs, and even identify their own PITA tendencies and learn how to avoid becoming the dreaded coworker.

Thursdays | 7 PM (EST); 6 PM (CST); 5 PM (MST);
4 PM (PST); 3PM (AKST)

First Session:

November 16, 2023 | 7 PM (EST)

Second Session:

November 30 | 7 PM (EST)

Third Session:

December 7 | 7 PM (EST)

NAEOP

Virtual Book Club

(3 Hours PSP Credit)

Book Club Lead by:

Joanne Piombino,
NAEOP PD Committee Member

Please click here to register.

Thursday, November 16th:

Chapter 1- Understanding the PITA Principle Through Chapter 5 "The Soggy PITA: A needy whiner. (60 pages)

Thursday, November 30th:

Chapter 6 - The Sloppy PITA: Disorganized and Oblivious through Chapter 9 - "The Combo PITA The worst of several worlds" (48 pages)

Thursday, December 7th:

Chapter 10 - A Sampler platter of honorable-mention PITAs through Appendix A: Research Support and Rationale for the PITA Principle (50 pages)